In the name of civil liberties, George Soros funds Marxist and pro-terrorist lawyers. Here is the proof.

"The main enemy of the open society, I believe, is no longer the communist but the capitalist threat."

Note: This is the same Bernardine Dohrn who had been a leader of the SDS and the Weather Underground. She had previously been an organizer for the National Lawyers Guild (NLG), a Communist Party front. "Bernardine represented a firm link between the guild and the SDS..." acknowledged CPUSA member and one-time NLG President Victor Rabinowitz in his book, Unrepentant Leftist.

Lynne Stewart, who represented the “blind sheik,” terrorist cleric Omar Abdel-Rahman, told the Marxist Monthly Review magazine that radical Islamists are “basically forces of national liberation” and emphasized how they could take down the Egyptian government. Stewart, convicted and imprisoned for proving illegal support to foreign Islamic terrorists, said:

And I think that we, as persons who are committed to the liberation of oppressed people, should fasten on the need for self-determination, and allow people who are under the heel of a corrupt and terrifying Egypt—where thousands of people are in prison, and torture and executions are, according to Amnesty International and Middle East Watch, commonplace—to do what they need to do to throw off that oppression. To denigrate them [Islamists] as right-wing, I don’t think is proper. My own sense is that, were the Islamists to be empowered, there would be movements within their own countries, such as occurs in Iran, to liberate.

We now resume our everyday lives but we have been charged once again, with, and for, our quests, and like Hippolyta and her Amazons; like David going forth to meet Goliath, like Beowulf the dragon slayer, like Queen Zenobia, who made war on the Romans, like Sir Galahad seeking the holy grail. And modern heros, dare I mention? Ho and Mao and Lenin, Fidel and Nelson Mandela and John Brown, Che Guevara who reminds us “At the risk of seeming ridiculous, let me say that the true revolutionary is guided by a great feeling of love.”

National Lawyers Guild Stands by Longtime Member Lynne Stewart as she Surrenders to Federal Custody

New York:
The National Lawyers Guild issues its continued support of longtime member and former veteran civil rights attorney Lynne Stewart, who was ordered to report to by 5pm to 500 Pearl Street in Manhattan. The U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit also ordered Judge John G. Koeltl to hold a hearing on December 2 on whether to increase the 28-month sentence he ordered in 2006.

Speaking about the prosecution of Ms. Stewart, National Lawyers Guild President David Gespass said, “We are proud that Lynne has been, is and continues to be a member of the National Lawyers Guild. Her long history of vigorous advocacy on behalf of the most unpopular of clients is an example to all of us and reflects a commitment to justice and due process that is too often only given lip service by the bar.”

Since Lynne Stewart’s April 2002 indictment, the National Lawyers Guild has assisted her in launching a broad-based, national education campaign about the impact that her indictment would have on the Sixth Amendment right to an attorney.

NLG Executive Director Heidi Boghosian said, “With the upcoming trial of Khalid Sheikh Mohammed and others, we remain concerned that defense lawyers will shrink from the obligations of vigorous, effective representation. The rule of law requires that everyone, without exception, be provided effective counsel and insuring that will ultimately enhance our liberty and safety.”

The National Lawyers Guild, founded in 1937, is headquartered in New York and has chapters in nearly every state. The Guild has a long history of representing individuals whom the government has deemed a threat to national security. The organization also helped expose illegal FBI and CIA surveillance, infiltration and disruption tactics, leading to enactment of the Freedom of Information Act and other limitations on federal investigative power.
REPORT ON

THE

NATIONAL LAWYERS GUILD

Legal Bulwark of the Communist Party

SEPTEMBER 17, 1950

Prepared and Released by the

COMMITTEE ON UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES, U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
WASHINGTON, D.C.
“The proletariat must gather and organize those lawyers and learned barristers in various countries who sympathize with the liberation struggle and are prepared, together with the legal bureau of the IRA, to assist and give legal help to the victims of the class domination of the bourgeoisie * * *.

“To organize legal bureaus in every country where they do not yet exist and where this is possible, in particular in England, the U. S. A. and Japan * * *.

“To strive to enlarge the number of lawyers who take part in this work by attracting more and more new cadres of lawyers and jurists who can be stimulated by their own interests and their sympathy with the revolution to gather around the IRA legal bureau.”

(The above directive was issued by the International Red Aid (IRA) at its Second International Conference (Moscow, 1927). The International Red Aid was established by the Comintern in 1922 for the purpose of providing organizations of lawyers for the legal defense of Communists and Communist causes in all parts of the world.)

NATIONAL LAWYERS GUILD

An important focal point in the Communist campaign of legal subversion is the National Lawyers Guild, which has been operating on the American scene for more than 20 years as an alleged nationwide organization for "liberal" lawyers concerned with human rights in general and civil liberties in particular.

This committee, in a special 50-page report on the guild in 1950, found the organization was in fact an "appendage to the Communist Party." Its proclaimed "benevolent" purposes were designed to lure non-Communist lawyers into the organization, where they would become subject to Communist influence and would unwittingly or unwittingly serve Communist objectives. In its day-to-day operations, the guild served as a "legal" bulwark of the Communist Party, intervening in legal proceedings in behalf of Communist defendants and lobbying against executive and legislative programs which would curb the effectiveness of the Communist conspiracy in this country. 28

The first executive secretary of the guild, Mortimer Riemer, who was also a member of the Communist Party at the time, has described in sworn testimony before this committee how he and other Communist lawyers worked to organize the guild in 1936. Not only were the organizational details arranged by Communist lawyers, but the first national convention of the guild in 1937 elected a slate of officers and followed a program prearranged in secret caucuses of Communist lawyers. 29

Other lawyers who were formerly active in both the Communist Party and the National Lawyers Guild have informed the committee that it was a Communist Party requirement that Communist lawyers become members of the guild because, as one witness said, "The guild was supposed to be made into the legal organ, the legal instrument which would speak for and in behalf of the Communist Party." 30

In the course of its present study of the problem of legal subversion, the committee found that most of the lawyers who have been identified before it as members of the Communist Party, and whose activities are discussed in more detail later in this report, have played prominent roles in the National Lawyers Guild. These lawyers have held key offices in the national guild organization such as those of executive secretary and members of the executive board and have functioned as president, executive secretary, treasurer, or board members in local chapters of the guild in such major cities as New York, Washington, D. C., Los Angeles, and San Francisco.

A number of lawyers have been identified as having been members of the Communist Party as far back as their law-school days, when they were also active in "student" chapters of the National Lawyers Guild. For example, lawyer Mortin Leitson served as president of the guild's student chapter at the University of Michigan while also active in a secret Communist Party organization on the campus.

29 See testimony of Mortimer Riemer before this committee on December 14, 1955.
30 See testimony of David Aaron before this committee, January 26, 1952, p. 2522.
The National Lawyers Guild held a banquet in New York City on October 25, 1957, at which it paid tribute to 125 lawyers who were members of the guild. The guild's "guest of honor" roll for this affair included 36 attorneys who have been publicly identified as Communist Party members in testimony before the committee. Activities of the guild in recent years continue to be directed toward the weakening of the security programs of Federal and local governments. The guild, for example, has been campaigning for:

1. Abolition of congressional committees assigned to the task of coping with subversion in the United States;
2. Curbing of the investigative powers of the Federal Bureau of Investigation;
3. Emasculation of the recent statute which grants immunity to any witness called before a committee or a Federal grand jury if the witness furnishes information regarding subversive activities;
4. Repeal of the Smith Act prohibiting teaching or advocacy of forcible overthrow of the United States Government;
5. Discontinuance of the Attorney General's listings of subversive organizations;
6. Repeal of the Internal Security Act and the Walter-McCarran Immigration Act;
7. Unrestricted issuance of passports to subversive individuals;
8. Repeal of the Federal employees loyalty-security program;
9. Limitations on the right of the Defense Department to discharge subversives from the Armed Forces.
The NLG works with the Center for Constitutional Rights, considered by some a spin-off from the NLG. Here they target the Philippines for “human rights violations” in the face of an Islamic and terrorist threat. The International Association of Democratic Lawyers (IADL) is an old Soviet front.
On Tuesday, May 10, join the Chicago Chapters of the National Lawyers Guild and the American Constitution Society, ACLU of Illinois, National Conference of Black Lawyers, and CAIR-Chicago as we sponsor a fantastic CLE about the grand jury and current abuses thereof.

WHAT: Representing Clients In a Grand Jury Investigation Implicating Political Conduct. Exploring:

- A history of grand jury and executive power prosecutorial abuse, including the Palmer Raids, the McCarthy era, grand juries targeting Puerto Rican, civil rights and anti-war activists.
- The ABC’s of representing people before grand juries, including important First Amendment rights for organizations whose records are subpoenaed, implications of FBI infiltration, and how to use First Amendment rights to defend against grand jury subpoenas and prosecution.
- First Amendment and criminal defense issues raised by Holder v. Humanitarian Law Project.
- A client’s perspective.
SPEAKERS:

Michael Deutsch is a civil rights and criminal defense lawyer at People’s Law Office who has written about grandjury abuse.

Bernardine Dohrn is associate clinical professor at Northwestern’s Children and Family Justice Center, and was subpoenaed to testify before a grand jury in the early 1980’s but resisted and served time in prison for her refusal.

Aziz Huq is an assistant professor at University of Chicago Law School, and previously litigated national security cases at the Brennan Center for Justice.

Stan Willis is a civil rights and criminal defense lawyer, activist, and active member of NCBL.

Susan Gzesh (moderator) is the director of the University of Chicago Human Rights Program and is a lawyer.

WHEN:  Tuesday, May 10, 5:30-7:30

WHERE:  Grace Place, 637 S. Dearborn Street, 1st Floor
Law professors joining the CCR/NLG brief on behalf of terrorist Jose Padilla included Bernardine Dohrn and J. Soffiyah Elijah, attorney for Weather Underground terrorist Marilyn Buck and Black Liberation Army terrorist Assata Shakur, a fugitive in Cuba.
A member of the Weather Underground and the Black Liberation Army, which carried out a robbery of a Brinks truck in 1981 that killed two policemen and a security guard, Marilyn Buck had been serving a prison term in California for her involvement in a long list of terrorist crimes when she was released by the Obama/Holder Administration. These crimes included the Brinks heist and helping convicted killer Joanne Chesimard escape from prison. Chesimard fled to Cuba, where she is now living under the protection of the Castro brothers. She killed a New Jersey State Trooper and the FBI is offering $1 million for information leading to her apprehension.

SUPPORT THE RESISTANCE CONSPIRACY CASE
SIGN THE OPEN LETTER TO THE PROGRESSIVE COMMUNITY

On April 11, 1989, 11 months from the date that Alan Berkman, Tim Blunk, Marilyn Buck, Linda Evans, Susan Rosenberg and Laura Whitehorn were formally charged with resisting U.S. foreign and domestic policies, the Court dismissed the politically motivated indictment against three of them. Judge Harold Greene in essence concurred with the defendants’ position that the FBI/Justice Department was overzealous in its attempt to repress these political activists by ruling that the continued prosecution of Alan Berkman, Tim Blunk and Susan Rosenberg amounted to double jeopardy. (Each had already undergone prior trials based on the same evidence.) Although this decision is a tremendous political and legal victory, the fight continues. Despite the government’s own admission that it has no direct evidence linking these defendants to political bombings which took place in the Washington area, the U.S. attorney is appealing the dismissal and continuing to prosecute the remaining three defendants.

Your support is now needed more than ever before. A financial contribution is necessary so that the OPEN LETTER may be published in one or more progressive periodicals. MEMORIAL TO MY COMRADE MARILYN BUCK

I, Lynne Stewart, behind the wall.

It was the supreme irony that the day the federal government finally released Marilyn was the same day they sentenced me to 10 years, as her federal replacement—an “exchange of prisoners.”

As if anyone could ever replace Marilyn! Her great spirit in the face of adversity! How she invested her talent into her poetry and translation! The inspiration she was to her contemporaries and also to those who now follow her in lives dedicated to struggle! Her lawyers—both Soffiyah Jill Elijah and the well remembered Susan Jordan, who labored on her behalf for years because that is the way we are supposed to honor and serve our clients, especially the political ones.

And I want to remark on Marilyn’s political activist life. We oftentimes shy away from that arm of our movement that was and is, proactive—self defensive on behalf of defenseless communities; building an offensive protective revolutionary movement. Marilyn’s role and her espousal of the goals of the Black Liberation Army, her exploits as a member of the group, are legendary. At the time of the Brinks expropriation in 1981, she was badly wounded in the leg but nonetheless remained true to the work and continued underground until her arrest and trial. I honor her for all that she has done. Like Lolita Lebron, she was an indomitable woman dedicated to and loving struggle.

On a personal note, I wish I had gotten to know her better. We were sporadic correspondents but I never visited. I knew she understood where I needed to use my time and talent. I did attend her release parties in New York and tried to be at the Sparks Fly celebrations as often as possible, including this year by letter from jail. But the chance to sit with a bottle of wine and sit and talk all night about anything and everything never happened. I thought I had the luxury of time. Not so; for her or for me.

Now, we can remember and we should remember her sacrifice in the cause of human freedom and decency, every day and in every way...Sleep sweetly, dear sister, we will finish your work.

MARILYN BUCK, ¡PRESENTE!

In loving memory of a woman who inspired and dazzled us, a sister who lived her life with her eyes wide open, who faced reality with purpose and courage, and who walked the earth with a characteristic forward lean.

Bernadine Dohrn & Bill Ayers

Ayers and Dohrn tribute to Buck.
The board and staff of the Center for Constitutional Rights proudly celebrates the life and legacy of Marilyn Buck, fierce warrior, human rights defender and fighter for justice.

CCR also wishes to honor the courage and struggle of political prisoners everywhere.

Stay strong and know that we support you and will not stop fighting until all of you are free.

The Struggle for Socialism

It was sometime late in 1942 that I joined the Communist party. It was not a Big Event in my life. There was no soundtrack playing either triumphant or ominous music. The only remarkable thing about it was that I hadn't joined sooner. Since 1938, I had been surrounded by members of the Party, most of whom I admired, and many of whom seemed intent on recruiting me. It was one of the union crowd at ACA who finally signed me up and gave me one of those cards that congressional committees talked about a few years later.

Everything I saw around me confirmed my understanding of the principles of Marxism. Capitalism had resulted in successive periods of severe economic depression and two worldwide wars in my lifetime. Fascism was an imminent threat. A new order of things was called for, and the only credible alternative in sight was socialism.

From Unrepentant Leftist, by Victor Rabinowitz, page 73.

JOHN J. ABT, NEW YORK

Whittaker Chambers testified before this committee on August 3, 1948, that in the early 1930's John J. Abt was a member of the so-called Ware-Abt-Witt group which was composed of Communist Party members employed by various agencies of the United States Government. Abt held legal posts with various United States Government agencies from 1933 until the summer of 1938; he was in the Legal Division of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration of the Agriculture Department when Chambers knew him. Chambers stated that this underground Communist group to which Abt belonged was organized to carry out the Communist Party's plan to work its members into high, policymaking positions in our Government, with espionage as one of its eventual objectives.

Aryeh Neier is the well-connected president of the Open Society Institute, funded by billionaire George Soros. Retired New York City Police Sgt. Jim Wilson says that Neier, as head of the New York Civil Liberties Union, played a role in the destruction of the New York City police intelligence files on communists and subversives. Neier wrote Dossier: The Secret Files They Keep on You.

Aryeh Neier’s book Taking Liberties, page 129, describes NLG involvement in the ACLU. The NLG had been critical of the ACLU’s support for the Ku Klux Klan.

FRANK J. DONNER, NEW YORK

Frank Donner was identified by a number of witnesses before this committee as a member of a Communist cell comprised of lawyers employed by the National Labor Relations Board in Washington, D.C. Herbert Fuchs, a former Communist who had helped to organize this cell in 1937 and actively participated in it until his transfer from Washington in 1942, testified on December 13, 1955, that Frank Donner was one of the NLRB lawyers who joined his conspiratorial Communist group.

On December 14, 1955, Mortimer Riemer, another former member of the Communist cell in the NLRB, confirmed Fuchs' testimony regarding Frank Donner. Donner was again identified by ex-Communist Harry Cooper on March 1, 1956.

Frank Donner, on June 28, 1956, appeared as a witness before this committee. Although admitting he was employed by the NLRB from 1940 until 1945 in the Litigation Section, he invoked the first and fifth amendments when he was questioned concerning Communist Party membership and affiliations. Mr. Donner was confronted with a United States Civil Service Commission questionnaire he had signed on June 2, 1943, while employed by the NLRB. On this official form, he had replied “no” to a question as to whether or not he held membership in a Communist organization. Conceding that the signature was his, Mr. Donner nevertheless invoked the fifth amendment when asked by the committee if he had been “truthful” in this statement to the United States Government.

Frank Donner was recently named general counsel for the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America. This Communist-controlled union, which was ousted by the CIO in 1950, is a recognized bargaining agent in many of our vital defense industries. The UE in a recent pamphlet described its new counsel as being “recognized as one of the foremost authorities on NLRB law.” It failed to mention that Donner was publicly identified as being a member of a conspiratorial Communist cell while employed as an attorney at the NLRB in the 1940’s.

Frank Donner was one of the principal speakers at the Ninth Annual Convention of the National Lawyers Guild held in February 1949. In 1953 he was elected a voting member of the board of directors at the annual meeting, and chairman of the conference working group of the national conference of the guild to be held in October at the Barbizon Plaza. He was again elected to the board of directors in 1954.

At a dinner sponsored by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born on October 11, 1956, one of the lawyers saluted for their work aiding this Communist-controlled organization was Frank Donner.

Donner has on different occasions been engaged as a speaker for the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee, an organization cited as Communist controlled by the Internal Security Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee. Speaking on such topics as “Informers as a Means of Suppression,” and “Informers as Tools,” Donner has excoriated all individuals who have been of assistance to congressional committees.
National Lawyers Guild member Harriett Bouslog represented CPUSA member Frank Marshall Davis, who was Barack Obama’s childhood mentor.

In his 1995 book, Dreams From My Father, Barack Obama describes a relationship he had with “Frank,” when Obama lived in Hawaii, and how he went to “Frank” for advice about college, racial matters, and other lessons of life. So, just who is this mysterious Frank, who so deeply influenced the life of Barack Obama? He was a pro-Soviet communist and sex pervert.

America’s Survival, Inc. obtained the 600-page FBI file on “Frank,” who was none other than the infamous pro-Soviet Communist Party member Frank Marshall Davis! At the same time, Davis wrote an autobiographical and pornographic sex novel, Sex Rebel, disclosing that Davis had sex with a young girl and engaged in shocking and bizarre sexual activities.
The FBI file on Frank Marshall Davis covers the years 1944-1963, meaning that he was under investigation or surveillance for at least 19 years. One document refers to Frank Marshall Davis having CPUSA affiliations dating back to 1931. Additional evidence shows that Davis was involved in communist activities in the 1970s, during the time he mentored Obama and was included in the FBI’s security index, meaning that Davis could be arrested or detained in the event of a national emergency. The FBI material documents Davis’s anti-white and pro-Soviet views, infiltration of the Hawaii Democratic Party, and other activities.

The communists targeted Hawaii because of its strategic location and importance to the U.S. defense effort. One of the most disturbing FBI documents refers to information that Davis “was observed photographing large sections of the [Hawaii] coastline with a camera containing a telescopic lens.” This information strongly suggests the possibility of espionage or some other form of illegal activity on the part of Davis.

This public TV film whitewashed Bouslog’s communist connections.
Mrs. Bouslog's activities in behalf of the Communist Party in Hawaii were described by Mr. Kawano. In Communist discussions prior to the emergence of the Communist Party of Hawaii as an open, rather than underground, organization in 1948, Mrs. Bouslog argued that an aboveground party apparatus would help both the party and the ILWU, Kawano reported. Mrs. Bouslog, he said, observed that the ILWU had been taking the brunt of opposition to Communist activities and that some of this opposition could be diverted to an open Communist Party.

The degree of influence among non-Communists that can be attained by a Communist working as a member of the legal profession was strikingly demonstrated by Mr. Kawano's testimony regarding Mrs. Bouslog and another ILWU attorney in Hawaii, Myer C. Symonds. Mr. Kawano said:

" as far as the influence of the two lawyers, Harriet Bouslog and Myer C. Symonds, is concerned, they have made quite a reputation for themselves in the islands. There are a lot of independent people outside of the labor movement today looking up to them as good lawyers. I have heard a lot of rumors among outsiders—because today I am one of the outsiders—and the talk among outsiders today is that, if you have a case and you cannot afford to lose the case, then the lawyer to get is either Bouslog or Symonds, because they work for a cheap fee, and work like the dickens, and usually win the case.

Another thing. A lot of people who are not Republican and not Democratic, but to some extent used to have personal friends, some had Republican friends and some Democratic friends, and whenever they had problems they used to run up to the Republicans or to Democrats, today they are running to Bouslog and Symonds. These people are not the most influential people in town, but they are influential and a lot of people are following them. **

The influence of Harriet Bouslog is growing.

Harriet Bouslog acted as one of the defense attorneys for seven defendants in Hawaii tried and convicted of conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the United States Government. Mrs. Bouslog was found guilty of "gross misconduct" during the course of her appearance as counsel during this Smith Act trial, and the Territorial supreme court, by unanimous action on April 6, 1958, ordered Mrs. Bouslog suspended from the practice of law for 1 year.

Richard Kagayama, a former Communist Party member in Hawaii, who testified frankly before the committee regarding his knowledge of Communist activities in the Territory, described an attempt by party officials to prevent him from giving information to the committee. Mr. Kagayama said that, prior to the arrival of the committee in the Territory, he had been visited by Charles Fujimoto, chairman of the Territorial Communist Party, and warned not to be a "stool pigeon." Mr. Kagayama was advised by Mr. Fujimoto to take any subpoena he might receive from this committee to lawyer
